In the art market, VAT may apply to the sale of artworks, depending on the jurisdiction. For example, in the European Union, artworks are generally subject to VAT at a standard rate, which can vary from country to country. VAT can significantly impact the cost of purchasing and selling artworks, especially for high-value transactions.

Artist's Resale Right (ARR)

Artist's resale right, also known as droit de suite, is a royalty paid to visual artists on the resale of their artworks. The purpose of ARR is to provide artists with ongoing financial support and recognition for the success of their works in the secondary market. In many countries, including members of the European Union, ARR is mandated by law and applies to certain art transactions. The rate of ARR is typically calculated as a percentage of the resale price and is paid by the seller or the buyer, depending on the jurisdiction.

In the art market, use tax may apply when collectors purchase artworks from out-of-state or foreign sellers who do not collect sales tax.
